Leave the beautiful fortified village of Rosans and head toward the Priory of Saint-André-de-Rosans, a former Cluniac priory listed as a Historic Monument. This Provençal Romanesque building features carved friezes and 12th-century mosaics, identical to those at the Ganagobie Monastery.

Continue through the Rosanais basin to Montjay, where a sundial dating from 1777 adorns the façade of a house.

It is recommended to spend the night a little further north, in Vaucluse, a charming village surrounded by large, rolling woodlands that are very cool and ideal for mushroom hunting.
