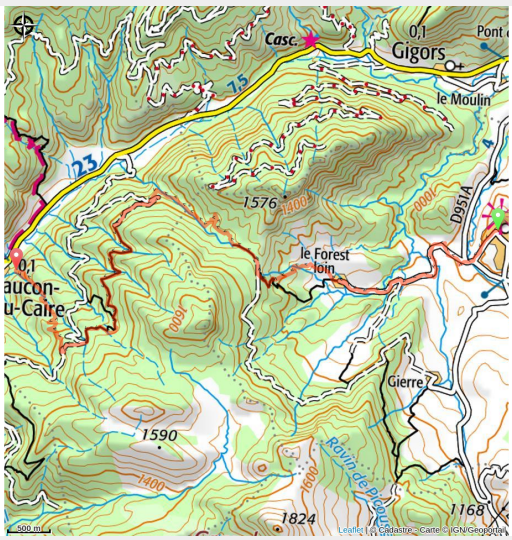
Step 4 : Turriers – Faucon-du-Caire

La Motte-du-Caire - Turriers

Turriers et les Hautes-Alpes en toile de fond (Martin Champon)



This stage from Turriers to Faucon-du-Caire is about 12 kilometers long. Traveling from east to west, this new day gets off to a great start beneath the peaks of Les Plauts and Les Barses, with their impressive rocky ridges.
First on a trail, then on a footpath, a route through the marl leads to the Col des Rouyères. The descent takes place through the forest, via the Ravin de l'Échelle. This is where a fairly long section on a trail begins, which allows you to avoid the county road. Nestled just before Faucon-du-Caire, the secret Ravin de la Piche leads to the "chaos," an area made up of massive boulders. A Geopark information panel provides explanations about the site.
The descent continues through the valley, crossing the Piche stream further down, to the "talking rock" overlooking the village (you can listen to a story on your smartphone by scanning the QR

Useful information

Practice : Trek

Length : 12.5 km

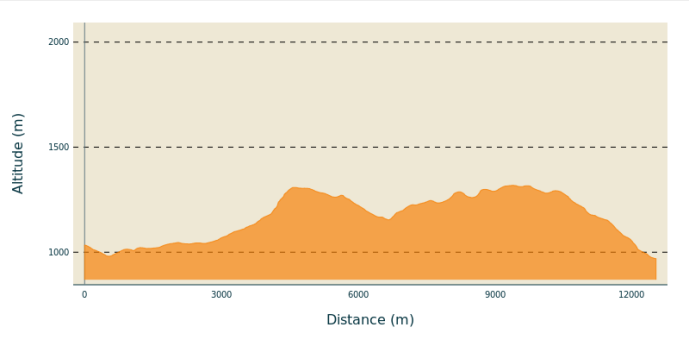
Trek ascent : 588 m

Difficulty : Medium

Trek

Departure : Village, Turriers
Arrival : Village, Faucon-du-Caire
Cities : 1. Turriers
2. Faucon-du-Caire

Altimetric profile



Min elevation 969 m Max elevation 1318 m

There are three lodging options in the hamlet of Le Caire, 4 km south of Faucon du Caire. A transfer can be arranged through the lodging providers.

On your path...

Casc.
0,1 Gigors
Pont
le Moulin
7,5
23
4
1576
1400
1000
D951A
le Forest loin
0,1 aucon-
u-Caire
1600
Gierre
1590
1400
1600
Ravin de Picous
1824
1168
500 m
Leaflet | © Cadastre - Carte © IGN/Geoportail

All useful information